

Wisconsin's No Call List has improved the quality of my life, and gives me peace of mind in my own home. My phone in my home is for my use in contacting others. I release my number only to those that I choose. The no call list has greatly strengthened my feeling of privacy in my own home and has greatly lessened the disruption of my time alone, and my family's time together.

The FCC needs to act in a way that allows the strong Wisconsin law to retain its current effectiveness. My family and I do not want to be contacted by a business or its affiliates unless we choose to tell them directly that we want to hear from them. Period.
